

Does your summer point towards Switzerland?

Emerging Talent Program

A summer career experience that's all about finding the answers to the big questions. As a student interested in the financial services industry, you'll be part of an exciting program that lets you actively pursue your interests, follow your ambitions and satisfy your curiosity – all while discovering the many career opportunities that UBS has to offer down the road.

The Emerging Talent Program brings together students from around the globe to collaborate, network and learn in a unique, hands-on four-week program. The program kicks off with a five-day global summit in Switzerland where you'll learn about UBS's history and strategy and get to know other interns from around the world. With the valuable experience gained, you'll return to your home base (London, New York, Zurich or Hong Kong), where you'll spend three weeks in our offices honing your skills by working on a business-relevant project.

Inspired? Then let us take you further on your journey with the Emerging Talent Program.
